

MADERO NOW
IN CITY HALLFollowing Formal Surrender of El Paso by Navarro

LATTER TENDERS SWORD

Madero Arouses Both Rebel and Federal Soldiers to Enthusiasm in Speech Delivered Shortly After the Surrender.

Juarez, Mexico, May 11.—The actual surrender of the city to the rebels by General Navarro took place about one o'clock yesterday afternoon. General Navarro giving his sword to General Garibaldi of the insurrecto army after the rebels had completely surrounded the barracks and threatened to annihilate the garrison. His eyes dimmed as he surrendered, but Colonel Garibaldi with a handshake that bespoke his admiration for the brave fight the federal leader had made, assured him of the desire of the rebels to afford him every courtesy. A score of rebel officers extended to the federal commander their sympathy as Mexicans for him and his men.

There is the same fraternal sentiment in the hearts of the entire insurrecto army for their countrymen, who have been defeated, but everywhere are heard words of opprobrium for President Diaz, whom they hold responsible for the loss of life and the suffering of the wounded.

General Madero, when he arrived in the afternoon at the corral, where the federal prisoners are quartered, made an address of sympathy and encouragement, lauding the prisoners for their bravery and assuring them that in his heart, as well as in those of his men, there was no feeling of enmity.

"You fought for General Diaz," he said, "because you had to, because you were a part of that system which we are trying to dissolve. In a few days, perhaps, peace will be restored. You soon will be free. If the war is to be continued you can have your choice of being paroled or joining the army of liberation. In the meantime we shall treat you as brothers not as foes."

With shouts of viva Madero, the federal prisoners, and insurrectos who gathered to hear him threw their hats skyward.

A few moments later down the main thoroughfare was heard the galloping of horses and soon the insurrecto standard, the Mexican national colors, flashed in the sunlight. Behind it rode Mrs. Francisco I. Madero, jr., and an escort of cavalry. Her face was beaming with joy as she spurred her horse to the scene of her husband's triumph. The shouting increased as the two embraced and entered the municipal building, now the Madero headquarters.

The town the federalists thought impregnable fell after a comparatively easy effort. The house to house advance and the same deadly fire that had driven the rebels from their trenches and outposts early Monday morning, the rebels at the entrance to the town hardly molested by the artillery of the federalists.

At the close of Tuesday's fighting the rebels had extensive control of the town. In the night they discovered the federal strongholds and by the use of dynamite bombs and shells a raging conflagration and fierce musketry fought their way to the famous old Spanish church, a brown colored building whose high brick fence formed a barricade for the federalists. The insurrectos took the church at midnight.

The federalists retired farther into the city to the roof of the municipal building, the edges of which were filled with sand bags.

After the attack was renewed early yesterday and the rebels had brought their machine guns within range, the federalists retired to the barracks and the insurrectos by the hundred occupied the houses within 100 yards on every side. Their fire was rapidly demolishing the building.

Shrapnel was being poured into the hollow square of the barracks. Many federal cavalry horses were killed. The soldiers crowded the place to its capacity. Only a few loopholes from which to shoot at the insurrectos pierced its sides.

Finally at noon General Navarro hoisted a white flag. He had no alternative. He first attempted to send a messenger to Senator Obregon, one of the go-betweens in the recent peace negotiations asking him to arrange for an armistice, but the rebels insisted upon immediate surrender.

The gray-haired general stood in the doorway of the barracks and received General Garibaldi. Raoul Madero, a brother of the rebel leader, dashed forward with his gun pointed at Navarro, ready to shoot if Garibaldi were hit. Federalists and insurrectos alike, however, withheld their fire while the surrender was being arranged.

The fighting soon ceased and attention immediately was directed to the dead and wounded. The federalists in their humiliation tore off their visor caps and uniforms and under guard of the rebels walked dejectedly, half dressed, down the street to the corral. They numbered about five hundred.

"OF GREAT IMPORTANCE"

Capture of Juarez, Says Gen. Madero of the Rebels.

Juarez, Mexico, May 11.—General Madero, safely quartered in the municipal, last night dictated the following statement:

"The taking of Juarez is of great military and political importance to the revolutionists and it assures us of a complete victory in a short time. The forces which defended the town fought valiantly."

"They owe their defeat to the fact that our forces were inspired in this fight by the spirit to win political liberty, while the federalists were only held in their ranks by the yoke of discipline. The majority are in the army against their will. For this reason I wish to announce to all soldiers that I will set them free as soon as I can find a way to insure some means of support for those who do not wish to incorporate themselves in my forces.

"I cannot set them free, as they have no means of subsistence, which would be dangerous. As far as I can now observe, the majority of the prisoners will swell my forces. Some of the officers, I am sure, will enter my army, and those who wish to remain true to the government of Porfirio Diaz will be exchanged for prisoners of war or political prisoners."

"Provisional president of Mexico."

FIVE MINE VICTIMS

Bodies Are Recovered.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 11.—Five lives were lost by suffocation in the Boston mine of the Delaware & Hudson company at Lackville, near here this morning. Only a small number of men were at work at the time the fire broke out. Had the full force been engaged, the loss of life would have been appalling. The fire is still raging, but the bodies had been recovered.

HONOR CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Distinguished Prelate Escorted to a Throne in Catholic Club.

New York, May 11.—In the manner observed at Rome, six pages in uniform, bearing lighted torches, met Cardinal Gibbons at the doors of the Catholic club here last night and escorted the distinguished prelate to a throne in the grand ballroom, where he was welcomed by a large gathering of prominent Catholics. The occasion was the golden jubilee of the prelate's ordination to the priesthood and the silver jubilee of his elevation to the cardinalate.

Archbishop Farley, Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling and Frank S. Cannon, president of the club, delivered welcoming addresses, to which the guest replied.

"No citizen should be a drone in the social beehive," Cardinal Gibbons said in the course of his response. "No man among you should be an indifferent spectator of the moral, political and economic questions which affect the welfare of the commonwealth."

"Thank God," the cardinal concluded, "we live in a country where there is liberty without the toleration of despotism, and where the government holds over us the aegis of its protection without interfering with the individual right of conscience."

The remarkable growth of the Catholic church in America was outlined in Judge Downing's address. In 1808 the church had but two bishops and 60 priests, he said, while to-day there were 13 archbishops, 97 bishops, 17,084 priests, 13,461 churches and a membership of 15,000,000.

BASEBALL MAGNATES' ROW.

Owners of Boston Nationals Are in Legal Tangle.

Boston, May 11.—Dissension among the owners of the Boston National baseball club was brought to light in a bill in equity to-day filed in the superior court yesterday by L. Cole Page, vice president, against William Hebrun Russell, president of the club.

The trouble arises over a special meeting called by President Russell for Wednesday of next week for the purpose of amending the by-laws. It is claimed by Mr. Page that it is the intention of President Russell to increase the number of directors and by getting control of the club to limit and restrict the powers of the plaintiff, Mr. Page says in his complaint that he is informed and believes that Russell has already sold or transferred stock on which he (Page) has an option, and in his opinion, Russell will dispose of more of the stock on which he has options, unless restrained by the court.

Vice President Page also objects to the proposed opening by President Russell of a branch office in New York, to be known as the "President's Office," although the business of the corporation is carried on and its franchise exercised in Boston.

The bill in equity asks that Russell be enjoined from voting his stock at the special meeting to carry the proposed by-laws into effect and thus obtaining control of the club to the exclusion of Page and his rights under the contract.

Judge Pierce has issued an order of notice returnable Monday next.

SAVED FROM SUICIDE.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley Tried to Drown in Niagara River.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 11.—Fighting with grim determination, took her life Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley of Buffalo, a woman 60 years old, was rescued from death at the very brink of the cataract yesterday by Constable Harrington of the state reservation police. In making the rescue the officer was in constant danger of being carried over the falls with the struggling woman.

Mrs. Hartley came here early in the afternoon. She entered the water about 90 feet above the falls. By odd chance her dress caught on a jagged rock about 20 feet from the shore and 15 feet from the brink of the falls. There she was held until Harrington reached the bank with a pike pole. Standing in a shore eddy and reaching out at arm's length the officer was just able to hook the pike into her dress.

Her arms pinioned by the terrific current, Mrs. Hartley tried by turning her body to get free from the pole, but he was unsuccessful. Finally, weakened by her struggles and frequent immersions in the water the woman became quiet and was dragged ashore by Harrington and several other men who had come to his assistance.

On the river bank was found a letter and a bunch of flowers. The letter read:

"No longer to be treated as a thing demented."

DOZEN BUILDINGS DOWN

At Fargo, North Dakota, 24 Houses and Barns Were Blown Down—Several People Injured, but No Fatalities Are Reported.

Moorehead, Minn., May 11.—A great funnel-shaped cloud, bringing with it a terrific wind, bore down on Felton yesterday, tore down a dozen buildings, blew in windows and tore up many trees. At Fargo, N. D., twenty-four houses and barns were blown down, and hundreds of windows were shattered. No report of fatalities has been received, but several persons were seriously injured.

Philadelphia Party Drank in What Is Believed to Be Suicide

Pact.

Philadelphia, May 11.—Three persons are dead and two others are in a hospital as the result of drinking beer yesterday, in which cyanide of potassium had been placed. The dead are:

Ida Arbuckle, aged 51 years.

John Shinn, aged 53 years.

Earl Burr, aged 30.

Those in the hospital are Emily Shinn, aged 53 years, wife of John Shinn, and Michael McElroy, aged 42 years.

All except Burr lived in a tenement house at 2,333 Ralston street, where the tragedy occurred.

Shinn and Burr are believed to have entered into an agreement to commit suicide, which resulted in the three deaths.

When Mrs. Shinn regained consciousness at the hospital, she told the police she did not know how the poison had gotten into the beer. Her husband, she said, was out of work all winter and she was obliged to support him by working in a mill. She threatened to leave him several times and he told her: "We will all go together."

Ida Arbuckle, the dead woman, is said to have had wealthy relatives in California. She had been a resident of the neighborhood many years and her source of income was a mystery. At one time she was evidently a beautiful woman, but she became dissipated.

DRAMATIC SCENES.

In Which Governor Foss of Massachusetts Figured.

Boston, May 11.—The Massachusetts governor added three more names to his growing list of pardons yesterday. Concluding a meeting of the executive council at which the pardons were acted upon, he paid a visit to the state prison, personally announced his decision to one of the inmates, and held interesting interviews with several prisoners, among them Jesse Pomeroy, a notorious murderer, who has been in prison since he was a boy.

A pardon was granted to Alex. A. Ek of Worcester, who was convicted of manslaughter in February, 1905, and sentenced for ten years. With three others, Ek was charged with assaulting and beating William Warrusavicz, who died. The others were given sentences in the house of correction for two years. There has always been a question as to who the guilty man was.

John J. McCarthy who was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory in January, 1911, for assault with intent to rob, also was pardoned. Judge White and District Attorney Sawyer agreed to the pardon. Four men were concerned in the robbery. McCarthy always maintained that he was innocent.

A pardon was granted to Gennina Mazzocco of Boston, a woman nearly 70 years of age, who was convicted with her son, and sentenced for assault and robbery upon her own person, in January, 1911, for assault with intent to rob, also was pardoned. Judge White and District Attorney Sawyer agreed to the pardon. Four men were concerned in the robbery. McCarthy always maintained that he was innocent.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

One Man Accused of Shooting Another and Second Man With Forgery.
Bennington, May 11.—William E. Sheldon, the former bookkeeper for the Vermont Hosiery and Machinery company, who was in the county jail awaiting a hearing on the charge of forgery, and Joseph Frank, who is charged with the shooting of Robert Mallory at the shops of the Eagle Square company in South Shaftsbury, were arraigned before Municipal Judge E. H. Holden yesterday afternoon.

Sheldon pleaded not guilty, waived examination and was held for the grand jury. Frank pleaded not guilty and his case was continued to the 16th for further hearing.

Sheldon was arrested in Springfield, Mass., upon the request of State's Attorney W. J. Meagher and agreed to come to Bennington to stand trial without the formality of requisition. He is charged with the passing of two forged checks upon local business men amounting to $35. He disappeared from Bennington on the evening of March 25, and which were drawn upon the Bennington County National bank and signed with the name of the president of the Vermont Hosiery and Machinery company. He had been employed by the hosiery and machinery company as a bookkeeper and had access to the check book from which he is alleged to have stolen the blanks. When arraigned this afternoon he gave his age as 51 years.

Frank is charged with shooting Robert Mallory, a fellow employee at the shops of the Eagle Square company in South Shaftsbury, during a quarrel on the afternoon of April 22. It is charged that Frank shot Mallory twice with a 32-calibre revolver and one bullet lodging in the arm and the other passing through the body without inflicting dangerous wounds. Mallory is well on the way to recovery. Frank gave his age as 35 and his birthplace as Germany.

Guilford, May 11.—Mrs. Florence M. Dodge's life will not be forfeited even if the jury, which has heard the evidence in her trial for alleged murder of William Heath, decides she is responsible for the man's death. In a statement before the court convened to-day, the presiding justice, A. A. Hall said that when he charges the jury he will instruct them not to consider a verdict of murder in the first degree, as the prosecution has not introduced evidence to show premeditation on the part of the defendant. Judge Hall said he would instruct the jury to consider three possible verdicts, namely: guilty of murder in the second degree, guilty of manslaughter and acquittal.

State's Attorney Harry B. Ames began the argument for the state this morning, and the case may go to the jury before night.

KILLED AT MARBLE QUARRY.

Workman Riding on Platform When Bar Fell on Him.

Rutland, May 11.—Alexander Wajconisz, a native of Russian Poland, 20 years old, was killed in an accident in the yards of the Alphonse Marble company, at West Rutland yesterday afternoon, and a fellow workman, named Joseph Bloty, narrowly escaped a similar fate. He received a severe wound on his face and scalp.

A heavy iron bar and hook fell from one of the traveling derricks used in transferring marble from one part of the yard to another. The bar and hook was attached to the traveler in such a way as to permit the elevating of a platform on which marble could be placed. The bar and hook was attached to the platform by means of four chains being hooked at the four corners. They were suspended from the traveler by a wire rope running through a large iron pulley.

Wajconisz and Bloty hooked the chains to their platform and stepped on it to ride a short distance to where a load of marble was to be taken. The rope which held the apparatus parted, and the heavy bar and hook dropped, Wajconisz was knocked down and his chest and abdomen crushed. One arm was broken. The man died shortly afterwards.

SILVER WEDDING SURPRISE.

Given Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juneau at St. Johnsbury.

St. Johnsbury, May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juneau were given a genuine surprise last evening, when they were invited to Red Men's hall and found 75 couples gathered there to help them celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. An orchestra furnished music for dancing and late in the evening Miss Albertine Juneau, daughter of the honored guests, read an address, presenting them with $25 in silver, which was carried by little Placide Desrochers, nephew of Mrs. Juneau.

They were also given a bouquet of 25 carnations by little Anita Desrochers. A little before midnight adjournment was made to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Juneau on Concord avenue, where another reception was held and refreshments served.

Mr. and Mrs. Juneau were married in the old Roman Catholic church on Cherry street by the late Rev. J. A. Boissonault, May 10, 1885, and have lived in town ever since. IMITATED A MONKEY.

Man Climbed a Tree and Glibbered at Miss Gould's House.

New York, May 11.—A man who thought he was a monkey shed his clothes in front of Miss Helen Miller Gould's house yesterday, and chattering to himself, climbed up a tree. He wriggled far out on a bough overhanging Miss Gould's porch and squatted there, grimacing and gesticulating at a swelling crowd below to whom he directed a running fire of gibberish.

Someone telephoned to the police and reserves hurried up. They dispersed the crowd and ordered the monkey imitator down. He merely grinned and three bluecoats climbed up and dislodged him. He then told the police that he was Joseph Blawie, and that he became a monkey after reading that the little animals were received into the homes of millionaires. He was taken to Bellevue hospital where his sanity will be tested.

Burlington May 11.—It is pretty generally understood now that the Porter Screen Manufacturing company at Winoski will not remove to Trenton, N. J., this spring, as announced some months ago. At that time it was understood that the high freight rates and trouble in securing raw material would make necessary a change in location. The business of the past year has been so profitable that it is understood that no change will be made at this time. It is said, although the rumor could not be verified Tuesday, that building operations in the nature of a storehouse at the Winoski plant are being contemplated.

Denver, Col., May 11.—Westbound Denver & Rio Grande passenger train No. 1 was derailed while rounding a curve two miles east of Minturn, Col., at 8:56 o'clock last night. The smoker and day coach are reported to have plunged into Eagle river.

At 10:50 o'clock last night, advice were received here that two were killed and 27 injured. The same report stated that the day coach and tourist sleeper were in the river, the rest of the train remaining on the track.

Minturn is a little mountain town across the continental divide about 30 miles from Leadville. Its only railway communication is over the railroad wires. Over these official reports are being received slowly, but they are very meagre.

PRAISED BY WOMEN.

Men of Church of Good Shepherd
Showed What They Could Do.

The men of the Church of the Good Shepherd came into their own last night when they elaborately prepared and served the annual parish dinner in the basement of the church, entirely unaided by mothers, wives or sweethearts. The affair was an unqualified success from its start to the very finish and reflected credit upon every member sharing in the work. A corps of nine younger men of the church, nattily attired in white coats, attended to the serving in a highly satisfactory manner.

The repast provided contained all the good things essential to a parish dinner and came in for unstinted praise, especially from the women. The attendance was unusually large and the long tables, set to accommodate 160 persons, were constantly lined from 6 o'clock until after seven. Bouquets of carnations were distributed about the tables. Attractive menus were in order and each was inscribed with a humorous toast which might have referred to the novelty of serving such a pretentious dinner without the aid of the women.

The affair was carried out in charge of a committee comprising some twenty men of the parish. The following young men assisted in the serving: James Stewart, Austin McNeil, John McNeil, Urie Lebourveau, Sidney Kidd, Roy Bugbee, Lloyd McNeil, H. Hansen, and Robert J. Childs. The annual parish meeting, which was to have followed the dinner, was postponed to Friday evening at 7:30 at the church.

The driver of the auto attempted to dodge the bicycle, but both turned the same way and the auto struck the bike and then dashed across the sidewalk and struck the jewelry store building just beneath the window on the north side. Cooper was knocked from his bike but fortunately escaped being run over by the car and was not injured. The auto had one headlight smashed and the front of the car was dented in places. The car was from Oakland and had no register number on it. The driver appeared to be a stranger in the city.
